Soap Making Doris Barnes 2016-07-30 Soap is an important tool that we all use to clean our body. It is a requirement in all bathrooms as no one can clean themselves without the use of soap and some water. Using only water is not enough as some oils and dirt cannot be removed with the use of water alone. Soap works by sticking to these oils and dirt and making it easier for them to come off upon rinsing with water.S Soap is made using only a few ingredients via a simple process. Because of this, some people have started taking up soap making as a hobby. Its two main ingredients are fats and lye, which are combined through a process called saponification. After saponification, soap can then be designed and shaped in any way that you wish.S Soap that is commonly sold in the market is bar-shaped without much design. It is a rather boring design but rather as it is easier to hold, especially when soap is wet. It will not break easily as well if the soap becomes small. However, if you want a soap that looks good while you are taking a shower, then a good idea is to make your own soap at home. This way, you can use the soap to beautify your bathroom as well as use it in washing your hands.There are two main processes on how to make soap. One is the hot process, which requires heating of the fats before mixing with lye solution. The mixture is then further heated until it is ready to be cooled. The cold process on the other hand, does not involve heating of any mixture. Fats are added directly to the lye solution and mixed until ready to cool.The resulting mixture from both processes can be modified to make the soap that you want. Putting it in a mold of your choice gives the soap its final shape. Using dyes and different techniques will produce different colors and designs for your soap. Lastly, adding oils and fragrances will give your soap the smell of your choice. Lotions and other ingredients may also be added. You can try experimenting on different ingredients to make your perfect soap.The fats that you use in making the soap also contribute to the properties of the soap. Using coconut oil will produce a soap that is good for lathering. Vegetable oil on the other hand, will produce a softer kind of soap. In addition, and if you have a sensitive skin, the best type of fat to use is olive oil. It will produce a mild type of soap that will not cause irritations to your sensitive skin.Due to its ease of soap making, almost everyone can do it. When doing the conventional way of making soap, just be sure to wear protective equipment to protect yourself from the dangerous effects of lye. This is why for children the glycerin soap is recommended, as it does not require lye anymore. Just melt the soap and you are ready to design it in the way you please.S Soap making is a very easy but practical hobby to take up. It will stimulate your mind in thinking of creative ways on how to design your soap. After making one, you can use it to display on the bathroom or bedroom. Soaps that are not done very well can be used so none of the ingredients used will go to waste.

Soap Making For Beginners Laura Garner 2020-03-26 Are you looking for a method for crafting soap while at home? Then keep reading... There's no better way to understand something than to make it, but without background knowledge you can sometimes feel a bit lost. Which is why I can't teach you how to make soap without first answering the fundamental question: What is soap? Put simply, when lye water is added to oils, there is a chemical reaction called saponification. Just as your elementary school vinegar and baking soda volcano eruption demonstrated a chemical reaction when two ingredients came together to make something completely different, the saponification process is a chemical reaction between fatty acids (oils, butters, fats) and sodium hydroxide (lye) that makes something new: soap. Recipes are developed with the goal of using all the lye during saponification so that no lye remains in the final soap product. People have been making soap for centuries. Farmers would use every part of their animals, including the fat, to make things like candles and soap. Later, certain regions became famous for their olive oil and laurel berry oil soaps. The benefits of from-scratch soap Before you dive into any new project, it's helpful to understand the benefits of what the project will provide. When it comes to soapmaking, there are huge benefits to making your own from scratch. This is the most important benefit for me and my family. When you make your own soap from scratch, you know exactly what is going into it. You make the decisions on what is healthy for your skin and for the skin of those you love. No processing procedure or ingredients (ingredients that the government determines to be "generally recognized as safe" and thus do not need to be listed on a label) are getting into your soap because you are in full control. If you want to be healthy, buying premade organic and premium products can become really expensive. When you make your own, there is an initial cost to the ingredients, but once you have them on hand, you can make enough soap for family and friends and still have ingredients left over to make lotions, lip balms, and other bath and body products. One of the reasons I started my company, simple life mom, was because I wanted to learn how to make more of what we use on a daily basis. I value being able to have the choice to buy or make my own products. Soap, shampoo bars, shaving bars, laundry bars--these are all things that we use on an almost daily basis and that we can create ourselves. There is something very exciting about making a beautiful batch of soap with your own hands. It'll get you hooked, in a good way. My first batches were made with makeshift molds, and the results were funky shapes and sizes. I still couldn't have been prouder. I was like a little girl making her first batch of cookies. I still feel the same way today. Learning a marketable skill Many people today are searching for pure and natural bath and body products. Who knows? You could end up starting a very successful home business, just as I did. This book covers the following: Understanding soapmaking Essential equipment and ingredients for making homemade natural soaps Step-by-step process with recipes Soap recipes How to wrap and preserve soaps How to decorate your soap bars Deciding to sell ...AND MORE!!!! But this is probably the farthest thing from the truth. Anyone can make soap at home. And the process is not as dangerous as you would think. In fact, homemade soap can be better than the ones you can buy in store—it all depends on what you put in the soap. Even being a busy bee isn't an excuse for not making your own soap—the process takes just a few hours. And in these few hours, you can make enough soap that can last for months. In this book, I will walk you through the process of making soap. In our journey, we will start by comparing soap making methods. From there, we will go on to look at the tools you need to invest in. In all this, we won't forget to look at how you can stay safe in this whole process. Since tastes differ, we will also dedicate a chapter on what you can use to color your soap. Also, you will find tips on how to start a soap making business. I'm sure you will find the book helpful. So without further ado, let's get started.

Soap Making for Beginners Kelly Soapy 2022-01-31 Have you recently come across information that ordinary people are making organic soaps at home, even without having any certifications relating to the use of various chemicals? And have you been curious to know the process involved in making soap and want to make your first batch of soap to explore this new world of making soap at home, but haven't found a comprehensive guide that addresses everything? If you've answered YES, keep reading! You Are About To Discover Exactly How To Make Your Very Own Organic Soap Using Readily Available Ingredients, Just Like The Pros! Even though we don't like admitting it, most of us know that commercial soap that comes in different names like "beauty bar" and "deodorizing bar" isn't really soap, but a detergent made with synthetic ingredients, agents and chemicals you'd not fancy pronouncing. Such soap is often harsh to our precious skin, which is notorious for absorbing anything that is placed on it. On the other hand, natural soap is made with rich, natural fats and oils that are nourishing to the skin, through a very simple, interesting process. So basically, making your own soap is not only cost-effective, but healthy and salutary especially if you love exciting DIY projects that yield magnificent results. But what if you've never done it before, how do you get started? What if you want to go large-scale and make a business out of it? What if you heard that it's risky? What if you're looking for a way to improve your current soap making processes? If you're (or have been) having such thoughts and concerns, then you landed on the right page. This simple beginners' guide to making your own natural soap has your back, adequately armed with all the answers tips and techniques that characterize any master soap-maker. More precisely, you'll learn: The basic essentials of making soap, including the equipment, tools and chemical compounds you require The different forms of making soap The precautions you need to take while making organic soap How to conduct soap mixing using different methods Why it's important to make natural and organic soaps The most important things to consider while choosing your homemade soap recipe The common mistakes in homemade soap making that you can avoid How to be creative in your homemade soap making process How to cure and cut your cold process soap The different soap making recipes to take advantage of today ...And much more! Are you looking for simple, amazing soap recipes to diversify your production? Or are you targeting certain body or mental ailments that you can fight with topical applications? If you've answered YES, this book is for you! What's more, this book takes an easy to follow structure, and a practical approach that will enable you to put what you learn into action, even if you've never done anything like this before!
